Welcome to issue #168. It's that time of year when we migrate into Europe for the Essen Game Fair. This will be out 12th year at Essen, and my 17th major games convention. By major I mean four days or more, so that excludes anything the UK has to offer. And you know what, it still excites me. It's going to be fun, expensive and tiring, possibly in that order. This issue will squeeze out just before we go, so if there are any issues with the games, don't expect any guick responses and fixes. That will have to wait until we are back.

This month's cover is from Essen, and is an artist's impression of the new Folkwang Museum. This is just around the corner from our usual hotel, but last year it was just a building site as they were doing a complete rebuild. We shall have to see how they are getting on. The opening is scheduled for 2010 to coincide with Essen's year as the City of Culture.

Three games are held this month - Don Shailer has found his work getting in the way. Work - the curse of the gaming classes. The games laid off this month are Bus Boss 313-MOR, Railway Rivals 2117-ND and RoboRally 3.

TringCon came and went, but not without some drama. About ten days before the day I fell and fractured the radius bone where it meets the elbow. Fortunately it was a very mild fracture, so although it gave me very limited movement in the arm and reduced the load I could lift or carry, it is well on the way to a full recovery. Many, many thanks to those who helped out on the day while I was still only halfway there.

There were 67 people in the hall, not counting myself, my wife Valerie and her welcome helper Linda. Those two did a great job with the catering, while I pottered about taking money for various reasons. The Jain Rennie charity gained £220 from the day, , so it was all-time high records all round.

You can see some pictures of the day and get the chance to book for future events on the web site - www.fwtwr.com/tringcon/.

Getting back to Essen, next month should see the report on the show. I might even take the laptop, but whether I'll find time to do any writing while we are away remains to be seen. After Essen comes MidCon, which I'll probably miss, and then Eastbourne. This time of year is a busy time for gaming events. 0

Pete, the GWR bought the '2' train from the GNR for 20 because train deals must be in multiples of 10. This reflects the fact that there are no smaller denomination company credits in 1829. I know we could do it more finely in this medium, but we respect the original components!

The LSWR in the Receiver's hands did nothing, and is unlikely to do anything while it cannot actively use any track. While it could do things that might benefit the LSWR in the long term, there is no guarantee that such benefits would materialise.

1837-Y25

A very busy round with trains moving all over the place.

OR7

The Sb ran for 80 with 55 for the mines, and Stephen should have actually got the money for his shares! This meant that instead of his reported deals, Stephen sold 2 Bk and an Sb and bought 5 Gt, floating the company. Tony's stock deals also changed, as he bought 1 Bk and 1 Ms instead of 2 Ms. The EPP and RGTE coal companies were exchanged for Bk shares and the Bk returned a '1G' train to the bank. John, you didn't buy a second share because you only had 28 cash.

The EHS folds into the Th.

There were far too many corrections to last time, for which I apologise. The players were all notified via e-mail, so the correct position should have been clear to all.

Some requests for companies to pay the bank to dispose of old trains didn't happen, because that can only be done when a company is on its train limit. The train limit for coal companies and minors was two until the first '3+1' was bought - perhaps you thought the limit was one. No problem, it just meant more cash on hand to swap train around.

Tony, you were right about your query on the Ms tile lays last time, but you didn't mention it at the beginning of your orders so that I could sort it out before starting this round. As a result I only found the note when I started operating the Ms this time - at the very end of the round. So much has happened this time that I decided I had to leave it as it was, particularly as other actions had been made on the basis of the published position.

Postal delays gave some people less time than usual to do their orders. This may have contributed to one problem, but there was a sharp rise in the number of illegal hex references, mostly quoting even numbers on hex rows that only offered odd numbers, and vice versa. I trust my interpretations gave you what was intended.

Steve pointed out that tile 402 should have a value of 20, not 30 as on my tile sheet. My masters have been updated - please adjust yours accordingly.

The U3 credit was incorrectly listed as 25 last time. It should have been zero.

The map remains decidedly yellow as the first '3' train has yet to be sold. This makes the coming stock round a relatively simple affair. The only option is for someone to start the MV minor, which is the only available minor not yet operating. This prompts me to be cheeky and consider asking for SR3 orders and orders for the following two ORs.

Here's the full offer. Send me your orders for stock round 3 really early, and I'll let you know by e-mail who has the MV and where it sits in the operating order. Then you can do your operating round orders as if the stock round had been published separately.

To be completely correct, you should note that Mike has the opportunity to buy one more share before the close of the first stock round, but I'm guessing he is away and unable to respond in time. Just bear in mind that Don may actually have the priority for SR2.

| l st 2nd 3rd 4th 5th | Bob Coull Michael Graystone Simon Brooks | LATE BAMANA GRUBBY BROOKS BUM | 310 291 212 |

No comments came in on this game, so I'll just observe that while LATE's coastal routes turned out to be a good investment, BUM's tendency to stay near the coast did not have the same effect, so that proves nothing. GRUBBY's deep desert routes didn't bring stunning returns, but he didn't finish last, so they could be good wit =h the right runs. The second game will finish soon, so perhaps we'll see some similarities in the winning networks.

Bus Boss 322-IZU

Pete and Jim complete the southern loop.

Geoff, you asked for goods in a green location having taken the Stretch/Blue card - that's why your goods went elsewhere. In the third phase, you can draw a card from the top of the deck, but not take one that has been turned up - unless you are using John Rennie's engineer skill. This skill lets you take one from the table instead of the deck - but it does not allow you to take four from top of the deck!

The game ended with all colony cards sold out, which doesn't happen that often. Lyndon and David got two Moon Bases each, while Marcus had to be content with three Planetary Cruisers. He wasn't far behind with those, but the game goes to Lyndon.

Game 17 will round up next time, so let me have your thoughts, if you have any. ۲

I've reduced the building names to three letter abbreviations to save space. SIP for Small Indigo Plant, LIP for Large Indigo Plant, etc. The game just calls the latter the Indigo Plant, but the addition of 'Large' removes any possible confusion.

The Buildings table shows how many of each building are left. You'll need to refer to your copies of the game for details of cost and number of colonist spaces, as trying to show all of that would take too much room.

Kevin and Stephen start with one Indigo field each, while Willem and Jim have Corn fields. I shall be using field instead of plantation as it is easy to confuse plantation and plant.

We're ready to make a start with round one. For a four-player game you start with three doubloons each, so choose your roles and let me know what you'll do when the other players choose theirs. You'll find a summary sheet enclosed that clarifies what I'll be doing if your orders don't cover the situation you find yourselves in. Note that the default actions will not be used to replace orders that are provided but cannot be carried out.

Jim Reader (PADDY, 1st): Wow, that was very close. As Keith mentioned, I thought Simon had this wrapped up with the solo run in race 41 and I had to think hard whether to enter this for second place and deny him 30 points or try and maximize my own points elsewhere. I was very pleased with my line in this game as I could regularly enter more than four of the races, allowing me to try and choose the best. Thanks very much for an exciting game and commiserations to Simon for coming so close.

Tony Sait (GITCO, 3rd): Damn, not as close as I had hoped. Good battle and an interesting map.

John Marsden (MARS, 5th): Well, this went wrong from the start when I failed to notice the river south of Sligo and thus ended up building in parallel. Coupled with an expensive and unprofitable extension towards Dublin and I deserved to lose.

Congratulations to Jim and Simon, and thanks for running the game.

PADDY's winning network was a three-pronged affair built around Enniskillen. While he was able to enter more runs than usual, he was lucky not to find his routes being undercut by shorter routes from the opposition.

Rob and Pete have full Palaces. Please consider the possibility that when choosing your new person there is still no room for them, and tell me which existing person to release to make room. Bear in mind that this happens before the Mongol Invasion takes place. You can choose not to house the new person you choose, but you won't move ahead on the person track if you do this. The default will be to turn away the new person.

The rumours from the north of the Mongol Invasion will turn out to be true next time. Michael and Pete currently have the fewest warriors, so please remember to tell me which person to release from your palaces. If you don't say, I shall release the lowest valued Warrior from your service.

FOR WHOM THE DIE ROLLS #168

Preview

While I have said that a new game of Battle! will not be appearing until the new year, we continue to add names to the list. I had a contact out of the blue asking where he could get the rules, and I've responded with an invitation for he and his friends to join the forthcoming game. Whether that will bear fruit remains to be seen.

The next two issues don't see anything particularly unusual in the way of new games.

The 1826 gives me a chance to get another game under my belt before the lessons of the last one have worn off completely. The Phoenicia game will be our second, and it will be interesting to see how it compares with the first, which received mixed reviews. Three players from the first game have come back for more, so it can't have been that bad.

Here's the plan for new games due to start in the next issues.

#169: Bus Boss, Outpost, Saint Petersburg
